Pacific Healthcare takes strategic stake in Imaging Centre

Singapore, 8 March 2007 – Pacific Healthcare Holdings Ltd (“PHH” or 太平保健) today announced that it has exercised its call option for 30% of the equity in RadLink-Asia Pte Ltd (“RadLink”), one of the largest independent provider of diagnostic imaging and radiography services in Singapore.

Under the agreement, PHH retains the right to call the remaining 10% of shares according to the original call option agreement directly or through its nominee. PHH may assign its holdings in Radlink to its joint venture (“JV”) with Kuwait Finance House Malaysia Berhad (“KFHMB”). PHH has a 40% stake in the JV with KFHMB holding the remaining 60%.

The total consideration for the equity stake is $7,260,000 (the “Consideration”). The Consideration was arrived at on a willing-buyer, willing-seller basis, based on the net profit after tax of Radlink for the financial year ended 31 December 2006.

Dr William Chong, CEO of Pacific Healthcare, said, “The key to effective healthcare lies in early detection of disease. RadLink has established itself as a leading provider of diagnostic imaging and radiography, which is an integral part of health screening and effective primary prevention.”

Radlink is a leader in the field of imaging and diagnostic services and has a comprehensive range of the latest radiographic equipment. This includes a 1.5 Tesla Magnetic Resonance Imaging (“MRI”) machine, a 64 slice Multi-Detector Computed Tomography (“64MDCT”) scanner and a comprehensive women and fetal diagnostic facility. It also has teleradiology capability.

Dr Chong added, “The agreement allows both Pacific Healthcare and RadLink to grow the breadth and depth of its respective core competencies. The businesses are complementary and the synergistic fit of our companies is excellent. We look forward to working with RadLink to grow regionally.”
